Scope and Contents Note

The materials in the Everett Shinn Papers were given by three different donors. Some of the primary documents were acquired from Everett Shinn's son, Davidson, by Edith DeShazo during the research for her book, Everett Shinn 1876 – 1953: A Figure in His Time. Other material was donated by Janet Shinn Flemming in 1977.

In the late 1950s art dealer Thurston H. Thacher purchased material from Davidson Shinn, the bulk of which was then sold to the Archives of American Art between 1958 and 1964. In 1996 Thacher's daughter donated what remained of her father's Shinn collection to the Delaware Art Museum. The Thacher material in this collection includes original black and white negatives, prints, and "clip art" that were part of the artists' personal portfolio/record of his work.

With respect to provenance, no inventory exists of the DeShazo and Flemming materials so it is impossible to determine exactly which donor gave what materials. An inventory of the Thacher donation may be found in the donation files in the Museum Archives. Since all of the materials have been intermingled since their transfers to the Museum no attempt has been made to separate the collection at this time.
