

100 Days of Summer Challenge

The Delaware Art Museum is an essential community resource, connecting people to art and to each other.

Join us in raising $100,000 over the next 100 days to support our mission of connecting people with art. Help expand support through 100 NEW MEMBERS and 100 NEW DONORS. These big goals will allow the Museum to fully reopen this fall and continue to thrive as a vibrant community hub, long into the future.

Now more than ever, we need your support. Give a gift today to keep art alive in our community.

- Support Online: give a one-time or recurring gift at delart.org/support

The Delaware Art Museum is a private, not-for-profit 501(c)(3) corporation. This organization is supported, in part, by a grant from the Delaware Division of the Arts, a state agency, in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts. The Division promotes Delaware arts events on www.DelawareScene.com. Top: On the edge of the ring, guarded, stood Brother Bartholome and the Carmelite (detail) from "Poisoned Ice," by 'Q', in Collier's Weekly, December 10, 1898.
